

September 2024 IFCMeNEWS – Unison, did you say Unison?

New! YOUNG IFCM Podcasts

In 2023, the International Federation for Choral Music (IFCM) established YOUNG IFCM, an IFCM Youth Committee consisting of six young choral musicians from Türkiye, USA, Philippines, Cameroon, Chile and New Zealand.

One of their projects is the creation of a podcast series entirely run by YOUNG IFCM and produced by IFCM.

Unison is a new podcast series dedicated to celebrating choral music and showcasing the diverse experiences, insights and talents of choral musicians internationally. For these globally focused podcasts, YOUNG IFCM aims to bring together voices from around the world to share unique choral traditions, experiences and advice.

YOUNG IFCM has something really special coming up! Stay tuned to discover the names of the YOUNG IFCM podcast guests.

IFCM Online Cafes, the new season

We're back online!

The upcoming season of IFCM Online Cafés will begin on 21 October 2024 with a Café addressing the subject of concert design. In November, IFCM will focus its attention on the subject of choral composition and the creation of music. This month's activities will include two events: an Online Café on 9 November and a webinar on 23 November.

The webinar is offered as part of the Choral TIES project coordinated by the European Choral Association, co-funded by the European Union Creative Europe Programme, and organised in cooperation with IFCM.

On 18 January 2025, IFCM Online Cafés will open the year with an exploration of choral events around the world. This Café will feature event organizers and choral directors who will share their experiences and present their perspectives on this exciting element of international choral activity.

Starting 12 October 2024 — Stay tuned and start brewing

IFCM welcomes two new members in the category “Local Organization”

The Montana International Choral Festival

The Montana International Choral Festival celebrates its 38th year as the United States premier non-competitive choral festival on 17-20 July 2025. This unique summer festival brings world-renowned international choirs to perform for thousands of choral music-lovers gathered in picturesque Missoula, Montana. Join them for 4 days of unparalleled music and meaningful cross-cultural moments in a welcoming contemporary Western town.

This year, Anton Armstrong will be guest conductor, leading diverse performances by ten outstanding choirs from North America, South America, Europe, and Africa. The festival includes a free Opening Night Concert downtown on the river, an open-to-the-public masterclass, the legendary Grand Finale, and so much more.

The Peabody Institute of The Johns Hopkins University

The Peabody Conservatory of The Johns Hopkins University is a private music and dance school in Baltimore, Maryland. It was founded in 1857 and is the oldest conservatory in the United States. They now offer an Master of Music degree in Choral Conducting.

Studying and performing repertoire from across centuries, students develop the diverse set of skills necessary for the performance of historical and contemporary music, including frequent collaboration with living composers and creators. Each student is guaranteed exceptional podium time, including weekly seminars with a conductors' choir and hands-on assistance/co-leadership of Peabody's vocal ensembles in rehearsal and performance. In addition to developing skills on the podium, students will also coach one-on-a-part vocal chamber ensembles of undergraduate- and graduate-level voice majors.

World Youth Choir Tour is underway

On August 24, 2024, and after only five days of rehearsal, the World Youth Choir (WYC) kicked off its concert tour with a stunning a cappella performance at the Stadtkirche Weikersheim. In this session, which started with 10 days of rehearsals, hosted by Jeunesses Musicales Deutschland in Weikersheim, the WYC not only prepared an a cappella programme, but mostly joined the Bundesjugendorchester and, under the direction of Tan Dun (China/USA) and Jörn Andresen (Germany/Austria), rehearsed and performed Beethoven's 9th Symphony and Tan Dun's Choral Concerto: Nine, a musical dialogue with Beethoven's 9th Symphony, divided into three movements.

The program was performed in the Tauber Philharmonie Weikersheim, Kloster Eberbach Eltville am Rhein, Concertgebouw Amsterdam, Elbphilharmonie Hamburg and the Opera House Bonn. More update and pictures on the WYC website, Facebook, Instagram and YouTube.

News from Schola Cantorum Venezuela

On 7 July 2024, Schola Cantorum of Venezuela joined Schola Juvenil of Venezuela to offer a concert under the direction of a young conductor, Juan Carlos Villalba, who was one of the guests of the recent YOUNG IFCM online café. Juan conducted this concert as part of his qualification for the UNEARTE bachelor's degree in music (Universidad Nacional Experimental de las Artes, Caracas, Venezuela).

Schola Cantorum of Venezuela was present at the 2024 Edinburgh International Festival

Schola Cantorum of Venezuela performed Osvaldo Golijov's St. Mark's Passion together with the National Youth Choir of Scotland at the inaugural concert under the direction of the Portuguese conductor Joanna Carneiro.

The Schola's second concert featured a variety of a cappella choral music, ranging from traditional Christian roots music to Latin American popular music. For this program, Schola Cantorum of Venezuela was conducted by María Guinand and Luimar Arismendi, and the musical work was supported by the choreographic proposal of Armando Díaz and Félix Guánchez.

Musica International next workshop

Musica International is announcing its next workshop that will take place on 21-26 October 2024 at the Institute of Phonetics of the Strasbourg University, France. Conductors, musicologists, publishers and music documentalists are invited to participate. These sessions are a privileged opportunity to share one's particular knowledge of choral music, input one's own compositions or publications, improve existing data, record pronunciations, all in a friendly and stimulating setting with other enthusiasts.

Musica International is looking for volunteers to take care of the organization of Musica sessions outside France (Canada, USA, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland, Spain, The Netherlands, Italy, Romania, Philippines...), and thus participate in the promotion of their choral heritage in Musica. Carus-Verlag: Choral Music Composed by Women

A real novelty: Choral Music Composed by Women features a total of 47 works for mixed choir. Numerous hidden gems for mixed choir are ready and waiting to be performed in concerts and church services. This choral collection spotlights female composers from Europe, North and South America and Israel, ranging from the Renaissance period to young composers of the present day. A fascinating repertoire from five centuries of music-making that features many unfamiliar names!

- Most pieces of easy to moderate difficulty; only a few divisi passages for male voices
- Featuring commissioned works and pieces published for the first time
- Most texts in English or German
- From madrigals to simple songs for community singing
- Separate editions available in print and digital form
